- Take extra care to interpret correctly apparent signs of abuse or neglect.
- Never assume that behaviour, mood or injury is related to an individual's additional needs without some further exploration.
- Understand that additional challenges can exist when recognising abuse and neglect in individuals with disabilities and special needs, including communication barriers.
- Recognise that children, young people and adults with SEND are also at a higher risk of peer group isolation and can be disproportionately affected by bullying, including prejudice based bullying.
